What the fuck?

What is this?

What the fuck?

What the fuck is this place?

We're in an Artist Studio.

It looks like this artist is a woman.

How can you tell?

Women own the void.

So?

All of this is about the abyss, making something out of nothing.

Everything takes a form, even infinity.

Everything takes forever.

Misdirection is a form of deception.

Misdirection is a term used in magic to describe how a magician directs the audience's attention towards one thing to distract from another.

Misdirecting the audience's attention is a central secret of all magic.

Misdirection refers to the effect, the victim's shift of attention, the slight of hand, or the language that creates it.

There are two basic ways to misdirect an audience.

One is to encourage the audience to look away for a fleeting moment so that the trick may be accomplished undetected.

The other approach has to do with reframing the audience's perception, so that the minds of the audience members are occupied by thoughts of something completely unimportant which appears integral, but in reality has no bearing on the trick at all.

3, 2, and remember Kanye's controversial music video for "Famous?" Yup, it included a wax replica of Donald Trump. Now some other interesting observations, Kanye appeared to have a camera crew with him, and he was

Sun Tzu's, "Art of War" shows how deception is essential to any successful military campaign.

There are 36 strategies that form a blueprint for every known method of misdirection.

I'm gonna pick it up from "some other interesting observations."

A story is a series of events we believe ourselves to be involved in, but over which we have no influence at all.

And Kevin as you can imagine there's some pretty fun headlines coming out of this meeting. Two of my favorites? Kanye West Wing, and Secretary of Swag.

When does the story end?

Okay let me do that one more time (indiscernible language).

When the language stops.

And Kevin as you can imagine there's some pretty fun headlines coming out of this meeting. Two of my favorite? Kanye West Wing, and Secretary of Swag. Kevin, back to you.

Okay? What's um? What was it? Oh the (indiscernible language).
